Brexit Papers

Welcome

Parliament did not sit in August, but my team and I have been busy working on constituency matters. I do hope that you have all had a happy and healthy summer.

Brexit Position Papers published

The Government has recently released details of its position on future customs arrangements between the UK and the EU, our plan for leaving the jurisdiction of the ECJ and our commitment to the peace process in Northern Ireland. As Chairman of the European Research Group, I will ensure the group plays a part in making a success of Brexit. You can read more here;

British-American Parliamentary Exchange

I was privileged to spend time in Washington DC for the 40th annual British-American Parliamentary visit. As part of an exchange program, I met with members of Congress to discuss trade and defence. There are huge opportunities for businesses in Fareham as we increase our trade with America. I visited the Pentagon, the US Department of State and the White House where we had very constructive discussions on terrorism and security. I received a brilliant insight into how our security services work together to combat extremism and terrorism.

Armed Forces Parliamentary Scheme Graduation

Having completed 22 days of training on visits around the world with the Royal Navy and the British Army, I was pleased to graduate from the Armed Forces Parliamentary Scheme. The scheme has really opened my eyes to the incredible work of our servicemen and women through my visits to British Army training in Alberta Canada, the Arctic Circle in Norway with the Royal Marines, the Defence Academy at Shrivenham and the construction of the Queen Elizabeth Class Aircraft Carrier in Rosyth, Scotland. We are lucky to have the best armed forces in the world.

Poor Broadband

Residents in Whiteley, Locks Heath and Titchfield have reported problems with their broadband again. In response to growing despair from residents, I am organising a meeting for local people to put their internet concerns directly to broadband suppliers on 3rd November. Further details will be announced on the 'Events' page of my website shortly.

Aircraft Carrier arrives in Portsmouth

Following her initial trials, the Queen Elizabeth Aircraft Carrier arrived in Portsmouth. I am proud that suppliers and shipyards across the UK have contributed to her build. Our new fighter jets and pilots will make their first trial flights from the carrier next year.

And Finally...

We say goodbye to Holly Broomfield who has worked tirelessly since I was elected. She has been a pivotal member of the team and I will be sad to see her go. I am sure you will join me in wishing Holly all the best for the future.
